Learning ICT in the Humanities (Teaching ICT through the Primary Curriculum) Tony Pickford

Providing practical guidance on enhancing learning through ICT in the humanities, this book is made up of a series of projects that supplement, augment and extend the QCA ICT scheme and provide much-needed links with Units in other subjects' schemes of work. It includes:

- examples and advice on enhancing learning through ICT in history, geography and RE
- fact cards that support each project and clearly outline its benefits in relation to teaching and learning
- examples of how activities work in 'real' classrooms
- links to research, inspection evidence and background reading to support each project
- adaptable planning examples and practical ideas provided on an accompanying CD ROM.

Suitable for all trainee and practising primary teachers.

Roberta Haile:

As a scholar exactly feel bored to reading. If their teacher questioned them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some publication, they are complained. Just little students that has reading's heart or real their passion. They just do what the teacher want, like asked to go to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading really. Any students feel that reading through is not important, boring and can't see colorful photos on there. Yeah, it is being complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever we really wish for. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore this Learning ICT in the Humanities (Teaching ICT through the Primary Curriculum) can make you sense more interested to read.
